Vintage Notes

The 2025 growing season across Paso Robles and Edna Valley provided ideal conditions for vibrant rosé production. Warm sunny days in Paso Robles delivered ripe fruit flavors and expressive aromatics, while the cool coastal influence of Edna Valley preserved freshness and acidity. Together, the regions produced Grenache with exceptional balance, brightness, and purity of fruit.

Vineyard Notes

This rosé is sourced from two Grenache vineyards along California's Central Coast, combining 75% Paso Robles fruit with 25% Edna Valley fruit. Paso Robles contributes ripe strawberry and watermelon character, while Edna Valley brings lively acidity, floral lift, and freshness from its cool Pacific influence.

Winemaking

The fruit was whole-cluster pressed to preserve delicate aromatics and maintain a pale, Provençal-style color. Fermentation took place entirely in stainless steel tanks at cool temperatures to capture freshness and purity of fruit. No malolactic fermentation was conducted, ensuring a crisp, bright finish.

Tasting Notes

The 2025 Rosé of Grenache bursts with aromas of fresh strawberries, watermelon, and orange candy, accented by hints of fresh basil. Light-bodied and vibrant on the palate, the wine delivers juicy red fruit flavors balanced by crisp acidity and refreshing minerality. Bright, thirst-quenching, and beautifully refreshing, it finishes clean with lingering notes of citrus and fresh herbs.
